"THE ENTOMBMENT."

Easter Eve, March 27. "I am He that liveth, and was dead; and behold I am alive forevermore." Read Matthew 27:57-61

The Apostles Creed—in order to combat the heresy that the human life of Christ was an illusion, a mere play-acting—goes out of its way to labor the point that Jesus "was crucified, dead and buried." There is a stern finality about the words "dead and buried." We do well not to play with those austere words or try to pretend they are an illusion. Christianity at its best never shirks the reality of "death's dateless night."

Meanwhile, the older we grow and the greater the number of our friends who have died, the less terrible and the more friendly death becomes. "Alone he goes, and none can go for him who goes into the land which no one knows." Yes, but we are not the first to go. The trumpets have sounded on the other side" for countless of our predecessors. The terror of loneliness is taken away by voices which repeat the initial Christian assurance, "I go to prepare a place for you."

Prayer: Almighty God, who art the God of the living and not of the dead, again we commend to thy keeping all those whom we have loved and lost. Rest eternal give them, O God, and let perpetual light shine upon them. Help us who are still in our pilgrimage so to live that in thy good time we may with them be received into that deathless company which no man can number through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Modern dairying—80 years old . . .

This 1937 season marks the 80th anniversary of modern dairying

The First Borden Milk Plant

It was 80 years ago this Spring that Gail Borden established the first successful commercial plant to "can" yesterday's milk for use next week, next month or next year.

Borden's small factory in the Naugatuck Valley of Connecticut started milk on its way to new and world-wide markets. Every dairyman shares in the wider markets and greater uses of milk brought about by his leadership.

Borden, on the 80th anniversary of modern dairying, pledges to continue this tradition of leadership in extending the uses for milk.
